RED AND WHITE SQUAD WON SECOND VICTORY OF SEASON IN HARD-FOUGHT GAME WITH M.A.A.A. YESTERDAY AFTERNOON

Final Score Stood 7-5 For McGill -- First Three Periods Showed Advantage For M.A.A.A. -- Red and White Rallied in Last Quarter--Flanagan's Kicking a Feature About Four Thousand Spectators Witnessed Game.

Coming up from behind in the last quarter, the McGill Rugby squad staged an eleventh hour attack at the stadium yesterday afternoon and defeated the M.A.A.A. team by a score of 7 to 5 in a game which for thrilling climax rivalled modern stagecraft at its best. Having decidedly the worst of the argument during the first three periods, the Red and White came back in the last stage of the match and forced the play continually into the Winged Wheelers' territory, finally resulting in a try which Anderson made following a fumble of a catch by Thomson, the star centre half of the M.A.A.A. squad. Flanagan kicked to Thomson from centre-field and the youngster attempted to catch the pigskin on his own ten-yard line, but muffed the ball. Livshin was right on top of it in a jiffy, and on the second down "Boo" Anderson went over the M.A.A.A. line for the winning points, to which Flanagan added another by a beautiful conversion.

M.A.A.A. spent the next five minutes in a valiant attempt to overcome the McGill lead and forced the Red and White squad onto the defensive, but the best the city team could do was to boost its score one point when Thomson kicked to Flanagan behind the McGill line and the speedy half was nailed by Joe Glickman and three or four other Blue and Red before he could carry the pigskin out to safety. The final whistle ended the Winged Wheelers' chances of victory and the apprehensions of the McGill squad and its supporters.

Approximately 4,000 spectators turned out for the holiday fixture, and were treated to the best Rugby seen on a local gridiron this season. The game was full of thrills "from start to finish, and the excellent weather conditions and rival rooting added to the afternoon's pleasure. "Needles" Thompson had his rosters out, about 1,000 strong, and despite little training, the club supplied plenty of vocal support for the team, and lived matters up considerably. Not to be outdone, the large following of the M.A.A.A. supporters from an adjacent section of the grand stand put up a good "holler" for the club team.

While the Red and White came out on the long end of the score, there is little question among the minds of those who witnessed the contest but that luck favored the University squad. Due chiefly to the superb kicking of Thomson, the youthful M.A.A.A. half, the city team had a decided edge on the play for the first three periods, and it was only hard luck that lost the squad the game when Thomson "fozzled" Flanagan's kick and McGill was able to score as a result.

During the first three periods McGill played only mediocre football, although the line worked strenuously and continually bucked through the M.A.A.A. sturdies for big gains. With the injection of Flanagan into the play at the end of the third period, the Red and White aggregation picked up all sorts of dash, resulting in many exciting moments of play which brought the supporters of both teams to their feet in urging on their respective players.

Thomson had it all over the McGill backs in kicking, his "toe" giving the M.A.A.A. squad a decided advantage for three-quarters of the struggle. Lafoley was easily out-classed by the young Winged Wheeler, and it was only when Flanagan came onto the field that McGill at all evened things up in the kicking game.

On the line, McGill plunged through the city team continually, and while on the defensive held back their more husky opponents, who only managed to gain their yards once, and were forced to resort to the kicking game to make ground.

McGill had it all over its opponents in tackling. The M.A.A.A. was particularly weak in this respect to its great disadvantage, for it was by dodging through after gathering in long kicks that the McGill backs managed to cut down the big gains made by Thomson in the first three periods. On the other hand, the McGill wings were deadly in their tackling, and it was seldom that M.A.A.A. players ran a caught ball out far.

M.A.A.A. showed great improvement over the form displayed against Ottawa on Saturday. The substitution of young players in the back-line and on the wings added perceptibly to the speed of the team. The backs were much stronger in kicking than those of two days ago, while the two wings were down under all kicks.

Thomson, the youthful centre-half of the Red and Blue squad, was the shining star of the game, and scintillated in most of the plays. His kicking left little to be desired, while his handling of the ball was excellent. It was unfortunate that, of the many chances he accepted throughout the game, the only fumble was the one that cost his team the match.

Jeff Russell proved the most useful man of the Red and White squad, and in the first three quarters his running out of the ball following catches of long kicks by Thomson, served to take the McGill squad out of what might have been dangerous situations.

"Boo" Anderson played his usual snappy game at quarter, and was a power in defence besides getting through the opposing line for big gains. His ploughing over the M.A.A.A. defence for the lone try of the game was a neat piece of work.

Notman, Ross and Livshin showed up well on the line and opened up plenty of holes which for the most part the McGill backs failed to make use of. Livshin surprised his most ardent supporters when he went down under Flanagan's kick in the last quarter and gathered in the loose ball after Thomson's muff. Flanagan appeared only in the last period and got in several mighty kicks, but had little chance to pull any of his speedy end runs. He was laid low near the end of the game by a tackle, but continued in the game.

Murray at quarter for the M.A.A.A. guided his team well, while Thomson, Gilhooley, Glickman and Findlay played strong games for their team. Gilhooley was bumped hard in the second quarter, and the former McGill player was forced to give place to Corbett.

McGill kicked off, and after an interchange of kicks, Murray plunged through for yards. When McGill got possession, Captain "Dud" Ross, Notman and Andy Rutherford bucked through the M.A.A.A. line on five successive occasions for ten-yard gains against Lafoley, but the McGill line bucked the ball back continually. The quarter ended with no score.

The second period opened with an exchange of kicks between Russell and Thomson, and ended when Nicholson and Parkins nailed Thomson behind the M.A.A.A. line for the first point of the game. After several attempts to buck through, in which Murray and Taylor failed to make ground, the Winged Wheelers resorted to the kicking game. Gilhooley was forced to retire, and was replaced by Corbett, while Gamble replaced Parsons, who received a kick in the face. Thomson kicked to Russell, who was nailed behind the line by the M.A.A.A. wings, thus evening up the score.

The remainder of the half developed into a kicking duel between Thomson and Lafoley, with the odds all in favor of the former. Potticary made a break through the McGill middle for a thirty-yard run. Thomson followed this play with a kick to Lafoley, who was nailed behind the line, giving M.A.A.A. one point lead. Half time ended with M.A.A.A., 2 and McGill, 1.

Three successive exchanges of kicks between Thomson and Lafoley resulted in the M.A.A.A. half kicking the ball to the dead-line for the third point, which was followed by another duel between these two backs, ending in Thomson kicking to Russell who hadn't a chance to run the ball out. Notman was ordered to the bench for two minutes. The third quarter ended with the M.A.A.A. on

R.V.C. TENNIS GAMES PLAYED

Inter-Class Match Took Place Yesterday.

As a result of yesterday morning's match, the finals for the ladies' doubles were between the Senior and Sophomore years. The game was played off in the afternoon. Miss M. Olding and Miss D. Campbell played for the Senior team, Miss E. Campbell and Miss Leggett for the Sophs. Miss D. Campbell, of the Senior team, is also the individual championship holder for this year.

Probably the interest in the Rugby game at the Stadium accounted for the scarcity of spectators -- this time exactly three tennis enthusiasts witnessed the game. The play at first was not very keen. The first game, like many of the following, was a long deuce game, ending in favor of the Senior team. The Seniors won the first eight games, in spite of the steady play of the Sophs, who fought hard. Miss Campbell's steady serve and Miss Leggett's brilliant long low returns foiled the wily Seniors many times, but the experience of the Seniors was against both Sophs. In spite of the somewhat uneven score, the play was very good, and though the final score of games was 11 to 4 in favor of the Seniors, great things are hoped for from both Miss S. Campbell and Miss Leggett next year.

RIFLE CLUB HELD SHOOT

Practiced Grouping and Application At Ranges.

A very successful shoot was held by the McGill Rifle Club last Saturday afternoon. A dozen or more met at 12 noon in the Arts Building, where rifles and ammunition were issued. They proceeded to Pointe aux Trembles' Ranges by street car, arriving there at 2.30 p.m. Half the men went to the butts while the others shot. The men first did some grouping, and then some application. The butt and shooting parties were exchanged several times to give everybody an equal chance. Considering it was the first shoot, some good scores were made. The return trip was made in an army motor truck. All were quite hoarse from yelling and singing when they landed at the Arts Building, but a happier lot of men has rarely been seen.

There is room for more members in the Rifle Club. Many students have a very vague idea of what the club is, and should get in touch with R. S. O'Meara, Com. '21 (Up. 1391W), J. S. Bieler, Sci. '23, or H. W. Johnston, Sci. '21, to get full information. The membership fee is $1.50 and rifles and ammunition are issued free of charge. No man need be afraid to join because he is not a crack shot.

A COLLEGE SUPPLY STORE

Recent Complaints of "profiteering" on the part of booksellers in the neighborhood of the college bring to our notice once more the painful fact that McGill is still without a Supply Store of her own. Since the last venture of this sort passed into oblivion no effort has been made at the establishment of another, although at all times the need has been felt for a store where McGill men may buy their books and other supplies in the full knowledge that they are not being overcharged.

The question should be given careful consideration by the student body, and more especially by their governing council. Surely it is possible to set up and support a Students' Supply Store, at a college the size of McGill? All that is needed for a few men of initiative, preferably members of the Student Council, to give the matter their attention, and bring it up at a meeting of that body. After a thorough discussion of the proposition some means, we believe, of carrying it out would be found.

Among the benefits that would undoubtedly accrue to the undergraduates as a result would be cheaper books, due to the cutting down of profits, and much greater facility in obtaining them. It would be possible for professors and lecturers to make out during the summer months a list of the principal books required for their courses and to send this to the Supply Store, which could then obtain them well before the opening of the session. This would obviate, in part at least, the distressing waits that have been recurring for so many years, and for which the private book-selling concerns now operating seem to have no remedy.

If the matter were arranged on a co-operative basis, and this will probably be found to be the most satisfactory one, any profit drawn from the sale of supplies would go to swell the resources of the student body, and so benefit the undergraduates as a whole. We look forward to the establishment of such a Supply Store at McGill in the near future, feeling that it will fill a long-felt need in our community.

MARITIME CLUB OPENS MEETINGS

Good Programme Arranged—Large Membership Expected.

The forthcoming meeting of the Maritime Club will mark the renewal of activities of the Maritimers of McGill. Every year brings to McGill more and more undergraduates from the East, and their influence is evident in all the activities of the student body. The Maritime Club is the official organization of the students, and eligibility for membership consists merely of being a native of Nova Scotia, New Brunswick or Prince Edward Island.

The function of the club is to form a means whereby men from the Maritime Provinces can get together from time to time during the college session. In this way, men from the East are able to get in touch with their friends and acquaintances from down home, who would otherwise be lost in the general maze of McGill students. There is quite a large percentage of the Staff of McGill from the Maritime Provinces, and they take a great interest in the club. A smoker is usually held early in the term, when prominent business men of Montreal, who hail from down East, professors and students, get together in a social way. The club this year proposes to hold a dance, and already from the interest taken there is every evidence that it will be highly successful. Last year the Courses in Equitation and Cavalry Start Soon.

The first shoot of the C.O.T.C. was held at the Pointe aux Trembles Ranges on Thanksgiving Day. Some fifty were present, a special car being used to convey the party to and from the ranges. The highest score was obtained by Capt. Cutmore, who made 30 at 100 yds, and 27 at 200 yds.

Authorization was received from Militia Headquarters on Saturday authorizing the use of the R.C.D. horses at St. John for training purposes. As soon as the uniforms are ready, which will be within the next two weeks, it is proposed to start the course in equitation and cavalry work.

SI WIFFLETREE ON RUGBY GAME

Introduces Some Slight Of Hand Tricks.

Fellow Students,—

By the time these here feeble lines burst forth into print, you'll have given the North and South to the smoothest aggravation of Mole-skinners what ever annexed Shag's grazing Angora, 1920 edition. "But who is Shag?" I hear some parvenoo ask. You tell him bleachers, I'm reserved. Why'n't sweet 'taters don't you amble up and ast us something sensible, like "Why don't cooties have wings?"

Speaking of this here interfering rule we bear tell so much about, I sort of thought I'd get some coke on it direct from the owner. So I oozes up to the Stadium and seen Shag, the famous McGill Football Coachman putting his bevy of diffident young society buds through their paces. He was handing out so dum many compliments that the whole team collective was blushing up like a Burlesque Queen on being asted what was her age by the Census man. However, setting my "Made in London" at a sporty angle so's to impress the rail dodos which same was out in large numbers, I blew a little whistle so's to abstract Shag's well known attention and so help me pickled cabbage if the hull dum team didn't come to a motionless stop. I guess they seen whom I was, so I staggered out on the grill-iron and goes right up to Shag who was looking about as happy as a Eskimo upon receiving a appointment at Head Stoker on the Mauretany.

"Hello, Mr. Shag," I says, pleasant like, "pretty cool for this kind of weather."

"Greetings Ulcerated Tooth," he replies back in answer, "I thought you still had six months to serve." I seen he was up to his old game of trying to pull my foot, as the same is, so I tells him: "I met you last year, Mr. Shag. I'm Si Wiffletree, of the Faculty of Laws, the McGill."

"Oh yes," he hollers, "you're the dodo what edits the 'Who's Who and Which' column in the Morgue Gazette."

At this, my dander commenced to begin to get rambunctious, but I swallowed it whole and says, soft and low: "I see where Ottawa University's been cutting up a howl over your inside interfering. It strikes me, Mr. Shag, you're throwing your weight around too much. The dodo what thinks he's the whole McLarens don't necessarily cop the Sultana!"

"Well Wiffletree, old hole in the fence," he replies back, with a ugly sneer, "all I can say is, the lesser the fewer."

"Maybe it is," I reneged, giving him as good as he give me, "but if brains was clothes, folks would take you for the President of the 'Back to Nature Society.'"

With that I explains my improvement on his old "hide the ball" trick. "With a whole house and lot like Chess Notman on your team, you shouldn't ought to be satisfied with only hiding a little leather ball," I explains to him in explanation. He seen at a single glance the idea of my remark, and quick as a flash, he gives me charge of his athletics and I put them through their traces, showing them my famous "Hide the Team" sleight of hand trick play.

I'm not in a supposition to publish publicly how this here play is pulled off, but this afternoon when you hear the single — "Whiffle, Whiffle, 1, 2, 3 — 3, 2, 1, and sudden like, you lamps the hull McGill aggravation disappearing from the grill-iron, and the M.M.A. team thinks it's half past time and starts for the Club-house, you'll know my famous play has been pulled off; for just as soon as the M.M.A. team turns their back, the hull McGill team runs out from behind Chess Notman and crosses the opponent's line with ease and consummation.

I next invented for Shag, my great Wallace-Notman-taxi trick which is work as follows. Being observant by birth, I seen that Notman has two hip pockets. So I trained this dodo, Wallace, quarter half of the McGillers, to put the ball in one pocket and jump in the other himself. While the M.M.A. is trying to find said ball, which is legal language, Notman wobbles over innocent like to have a friendly chat with his old friend, the goal Empire, which same is standing behind the M.M.A.'s lines. Then Wallace jumps out, gets the leather and makes a touch-score — pretty smooth, I terms it! For your benefit, I should ought to explain that we was delayed in practicing this taxi play on account the pocket which was to carry the ball had to be made larger.

When the hull team collective seen the devilish ingenuity of this rouse, they commenced to give me verbal congratulations in words and I ceased the opportune by walking off the grill-iron.

CHAMPIONSHIP TENNIS MEET ON THURSDAY

Men To Represent McGill Are Practically Chosen.

PROSPECTS BRIGHT.

Tennis Executive To Meet To Choose Team Captain—Members, Turn Out.

As a result of the matches played over the week-end and yesterday afternoon, the six men to represent McGill in the Intercollegiate meet have now been practically settled. The event is fixed for Thursday and Friday, October the 21st and 22nd, and is to be held on the finest clay courts in Toronto.

Our prospects, owing to the excellent showing of Crocker and Wright, are exceedingly bright, and the team should bring the cup back again to the McGill Union, where it feels much more at home. Crocker is entering second year Medicine after receiving a bachelor degree at Tufts University, near Boston. Wright is from the West, and is entering his Freshman year in Medicine. These two gave a very pretty exhibition of tennis yesterday afternoon on the McGill courts.

The championship for the last three years is as follows: 1913-14 at McGill ... McGill 1914-15 at R.M.C. ... McGill 1915-16 at McGill ... Toronto

Last year's Intercollegiate champion, Sheard, came to Montreal this week to enter the Indoor Tournament, but was eliminated yesterday afternoon in the first round. Unless the "dope" is entirely upset, Crocker, Wright, Ramsay and Bernard will be the first four, but there has been considerable difficulty in deciding on the fifth and sixth man. The results of the play on Thanksgiving Day were as follows: Mitchell defeated O'Halloran, 6-4, 6-1; Claxton defeated Parker in the best two out of three sets; Ward defeated Mitchell 6-4, 6-2; and Ward defeated Parker, 1-6, 6-1, 6-1.

The tennis executive will meet at five o'clock to-day at the club house for the purpose of electing a captain to the team, and all members are asked to be present for any other business that may come up.

BIBLE STUDY CLASSES OPEN

First Meeting To Be Held in Strathcona Hall To-Night.

To-night at 6 o'clock the Bible Study Classes at the Hall will commence again. This year, it is hoped, marked improvements will render the courses more attractive and profitable than ever before.

Bible Study is defined as the study of Jesus, his life, principles and character. What is truly pitiful in these days is the apathetic attitude taken by college men to the greatest ethical teacher and hero of all time. The profound significance of his words in these days of restless, selfish, economic struggle is scarcely felt at all. The character building power of contact with this sublimest of all characters—is spurned—by what?—by an almost characterless age.

We earnestly invite all honest and open minded thinking men to join us these classes. We ask above all freedom and frankness of discussion. We have no time to waste in bickering over labels, let us put each principle sentence to our own independent tests and attain some moral conviction, some high ideal without which life is a petty affair after all.

Mr. Mackay, Mr. De Witt Scott, Prof. Reilly, Mr. John Bradford and Prof. Graham, the leaders of the various courses will be introduced and will address the students.

Supper begins at 6 o'clock and ends at 6.30. Addresses and initial organization from 6.30 till 7.30. All men canvassed during the first week are asked to attend. Details as to dates, books, etc., will be settled. Now is the time to join—at the start.

A debtor gets twice angry, i.e., when he is damned and when he has to pay. M.M.A.'s are not brothers. In further entenuation, Miss, and if anybody asts you, Frank McGill, who was aforementioned above in complimentary turns, does not own the title deeds to the Sherbrooke St. knowledge Parlors. What is more, Miss, Mr. McGill wishes it known public and unprejudicial, that after the 1st of the month, he will not be responsible for any debts contracted in the name of the University.

Well, lads, my forecast prophecy of yesterday's context come out correct, for if you mind, I said that if the Red or Whites had recourse to my couple of sleight of hand trick plays, they would walk off the grill-iron vic-

 NEW GRAND.
There is a strong appeal in Marshall Nellian's mile-a-minute melodrama of newspaper life "Go and Get It" for overseas men who have or are contemplating returning to civil life in the adventures of the hero, Kirk Connelly. During the war Connelly's task—much against his will—was that of cook. But he found time between meals to do some real hero stuff and get wounded. On his return to private life Connelly gets a job on the editorial staff of a big daily newspaper in the hope of becoming a reporter. To his great disgust, however, the managing editor sets him to writing cooking recipes. But fortunately for the young veteran this condition does not last long. He is eventually assigned to a story and it leads to one of the most amazing assignments a reporter has ever had and the ex-cook editor acquits himself in a most creditable manner and "gets the story" and a "scoop." But you will have to see this picture at the New Grand Theatre in order to appreciate how truly big it is.

GAYETY.
The Gayety Theatre, packed to the doors, was yesterday the scene of the presentation of "The Bon-Ton Girls" in a musical melange entitled "Breaking Into Society." Following up such hits as "Town Scandals" and "Peek-a-Boo" it indicates the management fully intends to maintain the standard that has pleased thousands of play-goers in the past.
The principals in this laughable piece are John Barry, George Douglas and Jean de Lisle. Comedy is the predominant note of the show, comedy accompanied by exhibitions of acrobatic skill quite surprising. Yet the comedy is by no means all slapstick; a great deal of clever word-play enters into it. A fine musical programme is rendered with Elizabeth Barringer as Countess Primola, the chief soloist. Her singing is the best that has been heard here for some time. A good-looking chorus, in beautiful and varied costumes, contribute greatly to the success of the show. Their singing and dancing

RUGBY SQUAD MEET 'VARSITY' ON SATURDAY

Teams Judged To Be About Even In Strength.

BIG CLASH.
Odds At Present Are in Favor Of the Red and White Team.

With the M.A.A.A. game a struggle of the past, McGill is now concentrating its attention to the forthcoming tussle with Toronto "Varsity," which is scheduled to take place at the lair in the Queen City next Saturday, and, judging by past events, should be one of the biggest Rugby games of the year. A little over a week ago McGill beat Queen's at Kingston by a score of 32 to 6, and on Saturday Toronto defeated the same team by a score of 27 to 5. Speculation is now rife as to the relative strengths of the two aggregations—McGill and "Varsity"—and which squad will carry off the honors when the two rivals come together five days from now.

From reports on the Kingston game of last Saturday, it would appear that Toronto put up a game equal to that of the Red and White squad the week before, but according to the latest writers from the Presbyterian centre, the Queen's squad did not show the same "form" against "Varsity" that it displayed against the McGill team, and as a result "Varsity" had little trouble in piling up a big score, due chiefly to the speedy work of its star half, Breen. From all accounts Breen was the whole "Varsity" squad. Having seen both McGill and "Varsity" in action against Queen's, sporting scribes of Kingston have picked the Red and White to beat the Toronto fourteen.

Yesterday's game with the M. A. A. demonstrated that the McGill team has learned a lot since its struggle with the Tri-color, especially in the line work. At Kingston the Red and White line certainly did not cover itself with glory, but on Thanksgiving Day it held the heavier makes a fine setting for the principals. The uproars of applause that last night greeted each sally of wit, each clever exhibition of dancing, testified to the admiration of the audience.

The leading lady, Miss Jean de Lisle, has a charming personality that captivates the audience. Her singing and dancing are especially worthy of note. Mr. John Barry, the leading man, also acts very well. Perhaps the hit of the show is made by the "Princess," played by Geo. Douglas. The manner in which "she" dances is enjoyed by all.

The crowds that attended Monday's performances will in all probability be duplicated by those which attend during the remainder of the week. There is no doubt that for a long time the "Bon-Ton Girls" will be remembered by the theatre-going populace of Montreal.

ORPHEUM.

Orpheum patrons are undoubtedly delighted with the dramatization of "Cappy Ricks," as introduced by the popular Orpheum Players this week. "Cappy Ricks" has already won the hearts of many story fans and this lovable old sea captain will have found many new friends by Saturday evening. Few characters as true to life have appeared on a Montreal stage this season.

"Cappy Ricks," a nautical comedy in three acts, has been arranged from the well-known stories by Peter B. Kyne. "Cappy" has won thousands of friends in print and his appearance on the stage must add many friends to this host of admirers.

"Cappy" in the magazine stories is accurately drawn from life for the author knew well the followers of the sea and it was a weather-beaten retired sailing master who gave Mr. Kyne the inspiration for the leading character of his popular short stories.

The best of these stories were selected by Edward E. Ross, a prominent dramatist. The result is one of the most successful comedies of recent years. It deals with high finance on the high sea. "Cappy" is an old sea captain who is always right and never wrong. He boasts that he has never been beaten and that he never will be beaten. He is in business not for the love of money, but for the love of a fight. Captain Matt Peasly, whom the old captain secretly admired and who loved Cappy's daughter, gives Cappy the greatest fight of his life. Cappy won, for he did not know he was beaten.

A. S. Byron, as Alden P. Ricks, never failed to draw a laugh. Margaret Knight, as Cappy's daughter, and William Naughton, as handsome Captain Matt, proved favorites.

The production offers many opportunities for humorous situations and clever repartee, and ranks high among the popular comedies of the day.

HARRIERS MEET AT 4.30 TO-DAY

The Intercollegiate Meet Is Near and the Team Is To Be Chosen.

A practice for the Harrier Club will be held at 4.30 p.m. on Tuesday. All the men are urged to turn up as the best material is about to be selected for the Intercollegiate team.

The Intercollegiate Meet will be held on Nov. 13th. That date is now drawing near and the best of the men have to be chosen in time, so that they can receive special attention. This does not mean that the others will have no chance to make the team, because if any one of those will city team line and besides buckled through it continually for gains. While the McGill back division was a trifle weak yesterday, this matter will be straightened up somewhat by the addition of Flanagan at centre-half in the "Varsity" game. Don Baillie, who has been out of the game since the first of the month will most likely be out for practice to-day, and may possibly be used against Toronto. "Dud" Ross received a nasty bump in the leg in the line yesterday afternoon, and will be nursed along until the end of the week.

For the next few days Shag will put the finish touches on the Red and White machine, and when it goes to the Ontario city it will be ready for the big battle of the year.

be noticed to be improving, they will be given a try-out.

According to report, the other universities have some very good material, and McGill will have to battle hard to win. But this, we are sure, will put the Harriers on their mettle, and they will do their utmost to uphold the glory of McGill in Harriers, as she has been upheld in every other branch of learning and sports.

INITIAL GAME PLAYED BY RUGGER TEAM YESTERDAY

McGill Defeated By Montreal in First English Rugby
Game Of Season — Final Score Stood 5-3 — Game Keenly Contested — Lack Of Team-Play Evidenced
By Both Sides, But Better Form Looked For As Season Progresses.

Playing before a crowd of over one thousand spectators, McGill Rugger staged the first game of English Rugby since 1914, when they met the Montreal Rugby team yesterday morning on the old campus. The game was keenly contested, the final score being 5 to 3 in favor of Montreal. Both teams showed lack of team play, and the result was a rather loose exhibition of English Rugby.
However, a start has been made, and future games will undoubtedly be productive of better Rugby.

The Red and White forwards played a good game, heeling the ball out of the scrums with consistent regularity. The three-quarter line was McGill's weak point. The backs could not make any use of the ball when they received it from the scrums. Their work was characterized by poor passing, fumbling and "hogging" the ball. While McGill forwards were superior to their opponents, the Montreal backs out-shone McGill's backs.

The first half ended with the score nothing all, McGill having had the better of the play. In the second half J. McIntosh, McGill's scrum-half, scored from a five-yard scrum. Play saw-sawed back and forth until, with only two minutes to go, the Red and White full-back misjudged a long punt, and Williams, the fast Montreal wing three-quarter, caught the ball on the bounce and made a try which was converted by Colvill. Final score, 5-3.

McGill will in all probability play Montreal again next Saturday. The following men are asked to turn out to a practice game on the old campus this afternoon at four o'clock:

A Team	B Team
Elderkin, full-back	Parsons
McDougall, three-quarters	Groch
Helmecken	Kelley
Bradshaw	Lea
Budden	Lawrence
McIntosh, A.	Ackman
Day	Dawson
Beveridge, halves	McNamee
McIntosh	Cooper
Clarke	Spence-Thomas
Lochead, forwards	Cleland
McLean	Forrester
Patterson	Jones
Detson	Trites
Congleton	Durrant
Palmer	Wellington
Lawrence	McDonald
Buchanan	Blundell

The teams will strip in the new dressing room in Molson Hall.

A general meeting of the English
Rugby Club will be held in Room B, Strathcona Hall, at 5.30 p.m., to-day.
The purpose of the meeting is to elect a captain of the representative team and to discuss the formation of a local McGill Rugby League.

MECHANICAL CLUB VISITS VICKERS

Initial Trip of Club Held Last Saturday To the Large Canadian Shipyard.

On Saturday afternoon the first trip of the Mechanical Club for this session was held to the shipyards of Canadian Vickers, Limited, the members assembled at the Union at 1.30 p.m. sharp, and then proceeded to the plant by street car. The members, about 60 strong, were shown around in three groups, and they had ample opportunity to get an insight into the art of shipbuilding.

First, the groups inspected the large machine shop, where the plates are cut and punched, and then they circled about one of the four hulls on the ways, to see the method of construction.

A "cut-in-two" boat was also gone over. This boat was in the dry-docks at the time, getting put together.

Here the members had a chance to see a typical boiler and engine installation, used in the freighters. The boiler and engine shop was afterwards visited, where the company makes its own machinery for its craft.

Taken all in all this is one of the most profitable trips that the club has taken, and the members wish to express their thanks to the officials of the company for this opportunity which the club has had of going over their plant.

RED AND WHITE SQUAD WINS SECOND VICTORY

McGill's five-yard line and with the appearance of Flanagan at half.

Flanagan heralded his appearance by a kick which had not much power in it. Rutherford bucked through for yards, and then Flanagan booted the ball 50 yards to the M.A.A.A. ten-yard line. Thomson returned it to Flanagan at the forty, and after another exchange in which no ground was gained, Flanagan kicked to Thomson, who missed the catch. Livshin sent the McGill supporters crazy with excitement when he dropped on the ball ten yards from the Red and Blue line. Little ground was made by the Red and White on the first down, but on the second Anderson passed up the opening made from him and aided along by Flanagan went over the top of the M.A.A.A. line for the winning points. Flanagan converted. Notman took his second trip to the bench. Ross was taken off with a bad knee, and was replaced by Mathewson. Flanagan took the count on McGill's five-yard line, where the play had been sent by the M.A.A.A. squad, which was putting forth every effort to get over. He continued to play. The Winged Wheelers made their last point when Flanagan was called for a rouge.

Lorne Montgomery acted as referee and Jack Corrigan as judge-of-play, to the entire satisfaction of everyone.

The teams lined up as follows:

McGill	Position	M.A.A.A.
Rutherford	F. Wing	Hercovitch
Wilson	Half	Thomson
Russell	Half	Barwick
Lafoloy	Half	Abinovitich
Anderson	Quarter	Murray
Parkins	Outside	Glickman

The Fluctuating Dollar

At present, a dollar is worth only about 50c. to spend; but it is worth $1 to save. Because, dollars deposited in a Savings Account will steadily increase in buying power as the world gets on its feet again and the supply of commodities grows equal to the demand. Buy only what you cannot do without.
Put your dollars away in a Savings Account until their buying power becomes more equalized.
